The spectre of housecleaning needn't trouble you a moment. The person that dreads housecleaning knows nothing of Pearline—of its easy work, its quickness and comfort, its saving of paint and of rubbing. Go over everything with Pearline—floors, doors, windows, woodwork, paint, marble, stone, glass, carpets, bric-a-brac—and you'll get through any cleaning job in the shortest time, and with the least labor and fuss. You don't need any other help. Pearline is meant to wash everything that water won't hurt.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

THE END CAME SUNDAY.

Death of the Great Journalist, Charles A. Dana.

A Great Loss to the World of Letters and Newspaper Field.

Suffered from Illness for Some Time But the End was Peaceful.

New York, Oct. 17. Charles A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, died at 1 20 this afternoon at his home at Glen Cove, L. I.

His death had been expected for several hours and his family and physicians were at his bedside when the end came. Mr. Dana's condition has been such for several months that the members of his family had kept themselves in constant readiness to go to his bedside at any moment. On Saturday morning he had a relapse and it was apparent that recovery was impossible. Several times, however, he rallied but toward night he began to sink. During the night there were feeble rallies, but they did not last long.

This morning it was seen that the end was but a few hours off and his attendants remained almost constantly at his bedside. The end came quietly.

The extreme heat of Saturday and Friday had considerable to do with hastening the end. On Friday Mr. Dana showed signs of distress and everything possible was done to relieve him. He had been weakened by his long illness and during the summer was several times thought to be on the verge of a fatal collapse, but each time he rallied. He did not improve much with the coming cooler weather, and the sinking spells became more frequent. On Friday Mr. Dana was able to take only the slightest nourishment and the condition continued.

Paul Dana and his sisters, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Underhill, and Mrs. Branan, were at his home on Saturday morning and were warned to remain there. They were at the bedside when death came.

The cause of Mr. Dana's death was cirrhosis of the liver. On June 9 he was at his office, apparently strong and healthy. The next day he was taken ill and has not since visited New York. He was 78 years of age.

The preparations for the burial have not yet been completed.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Consular Appointments.

Washington, Oct. 16. The following consular and other appointments by the President were announced today:

Eugene Seeger, Illinois, to be consul general of the United States at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

To be consuls of the United States—James Franklin Darnall, of Indiana, at Nogales, Mex.; John E. Kehl, of Ohio, at Stettin, Germany; Frank M. Brundage, of Pennsylvania, at Aix-la-Chapelle, Germany; Julian Phelps, of Iowa, at Crefeld, Germany; Charles P. Snyder, of West Virginia, at Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, Mexico; Henry S. Culver, of Ohio, at London, Ont.

David H. Budlong, of Idaho, to be register of the land office at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; John M. Hill, of Washington, to be register of the land office at Walla Walla, Wash.

Industrious Firebug.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 13. The selectmen, assisted by State Insurance Commissioner S. W. Carr and County Attorney Emmons, have been conducting an investigation into the mysterious fire which occurred in the grocery store of G. L. Hyde & Co. last Monday night.

The testimony showed that a deliberate attempt had been made to burn the store, a fire being started near an open oil tank containing 400 gallons of kerosene. Several pieces of cloth were found hanging over the edge of the tank. There were also several empty gasolene barrels near the tank. When the smoke was discovered the fire had burned itself out within two inches of the oil tank.

Investigation on the store floor above showed that the industrious firebug had not confined his operations entirely to the cellar. A space on the floor leading from the kerosene pump over the tank, several feet long and two to three feet in width, had been thoroughly saturated with kerosene, forming puddles of oil where the floor sagged. With all this fiendish care taken to destroy property and life, possibly, it was little short of miraculous that a destructive conflagration did not occur.

Four families were asleep within 100 feet of the incendiaries' torch. Porters' Hall block and Mrs. Jones' block are on one side of the store, and Odd Fellows' Hall and the Everett House on the other side. The wind was blowing a gale that night. George L. Hyde, the proprietor of the store, and his wife were visiting in Boston on the night of the fire.

"Anthony Hope" Arrives.

New York, Oct. 16. Anthony Hope Hawkins, better known in the world of letters as "Anthony Hope" arrived here today on the steamship Paris. This is his first visit to the United States. During his three months' stay he will make a tour of the country, under Maj. Pond's direction, giving readings from his works in the principal cities, going as far west as St. Louis and south to Richmond.

The author of "The Prisoner of Zenda" in appearance is rather light, of average height, smooth-shaven, and has a strong, interesting face, a well shaped head that is rather sparsely adorned with hair and looks more like the clever lawyer—which he was at one time—than the brilliant literary man, which he is now. He said that he looked forward to his visit to America with pleasure. "My plans are rather in the hands of Maj. Pond," he added, smiling. "My first reading will be in Lowell next Monday evening. I shall give two morning readings here in the Lyceum Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, weeks. My visit to the United States is, I regret to say, a brief one. I expect to be home late in December."

Important Capture of Burglars.

Onset Bay, Mass., Oct. 17. Officers made an important capture here today by the arrest of W. F. A. Sutherland and a confederate whose name is not known, while they were in the act of robbing Worth's bicycle store.

The prisoners had some time during the night entered the residences of Charles Whittemore and Mrs. H. B. Ross by means of skeleton keys and had packed up about $200 worth of bric-a-brac, but had not removed it, intending to return later. The robbers entered the bicycle store by the rear window.

The reason why the catch is a big one is that the men are thought to be the Sutherland brothers, who have worked New York city and are supposed to be the men who stole Anna Gould's diamonds some time ago. The men came from Boston last night to Wareham and walked from there to Onset. They were followed from Boston, however, by State Officers Rhoades and Proctor, and their actions during the night were covered by these and other officers.

A FIERCE BLAZE.

A $300,000 Fire in New York City on Sunday.

Seven Story Factory Building Reduced to Blackened Walls Only.

Fire Began in Small Way in Basement, but Quickly Spread.

New York, Oct. 17. A $300,000 fire in the 7 story factory building at 279 and 281 Spring street taxed the energies of the fire department this afternoon. The basement, first and second floors of the building were occupied by Fitzpatrick & Co., manufacturers of mirrors, etc. The upper floors were occupied by Bradley, Currier & Co., manufacturers of doors, etc.

Firemen were called to extinguish a small fire in the basement and were going away when flames were discovered on the ground floor and five calls for help were sent out. The building was created by the Trinity Church corporation. Nothing now remains but blackened walls.

AFTER THE SILVER HEELS.

Deputy Marshals Looking for Bangor Craft, Suspected of Filibustering.

New York, Oct. 17. The revenue cutter Chandler, having on board U. S. Marshal McCarthy in charge of a dozen deputy marshals and three Pinkerton detectives, spent nearly four hours today cruising about the harbor in search of a schooner which it was said had sailed for Cuba with a filibustering party.

The schooner which the marshal was in quest of was the Silver Heels, of Bangor, Me. She is of 134 tonnage and has a reputation of being very swift and seaworthy.

It had been reported that the Silver Heels was boarded early last evening by about 23 men who were apparently equipped for an extended voyage. A number of packages had been loaded on the schooner which was then towed from the foot of Market street, East river, into mid-stream.

Whether the schooner went up or down stream, the persons who furnished the information to the federal authorities could not say.

U. S. District Attorney MacFarlane, Commissioner Shields and Marshal McCarthy, who had remained at their offices awaiting some information, decided last night to start in pursuit of the schooner. The Silver Heels had also hours the start of the tug. After cruising around for four hours without catching sight of anything that looked like the schooner, the Chandler put back to the city.

Diphtheria at Fort Kent.

Augusta, Me., Oct. 16. Secretary Young of the state board of health says that the reports in regard to diphtheria at Fort Kent have been somewhat exaggerated, but still the situation is serious enough.

At the request of the local board of health at Fort Kent Dr. W. Johnson, of this city, was sent there to make a thorough investigation and to aid the local board. A circular letter was also sent to each of the Catholic clergymen in the Madawaska region asking his help in explaining to the people the necessity for observing great care not to spread the infection.

A letter was received from Dr. Johnson yesterday. He writes hopefully, and says that with the co-operation of the officers, the physicians and the priests, he hopes soon to send a more favorable report. The cases have been mostly among the poorer classes of French people and five or six miles from the village. He states that the day his letter was written he had visited 25 cases, of which 14 were new cases, all of which received the anti-toxine treatment.

Gale Down the Bay.

Belfast, Me., Oct. 17. From a calm sultry day a strong northwest wind sprung up in the evening, increasing to a gale which raged all night. Seldom has the water of Penobscot bay been so fierce as today, and a number of lumber laden vessels from Bangor are anchored in the lower bay. Telegraph and telephone communication with surrounding places was cut off all day.

The change in temperature was 30 degrees in 12 hours.

English Expert's Views.

Denver, Col., Oct. 16. According to Mr. H. Bratnober, the mining expert, who is returning to London from Alaska, where he spent several months investigating the gold fields for the Rothschilds, the Klondike district will probably produce $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 during the next 12 months. Considering the age of the camp and the stupendous difficulties to be overcome, he says, $6,000,000 will be highly creditable to the camp, and that means that the prophesied $50,000,000 may materialize in the course of a few years.

Steamer Chicago's Delay.

Boston, Oct. 17. The Wilson line steamer Chicago came into port this afternoon and Captain Hathaway reports that the delay in her arrival was due to a loose crank shaft pin on October 10, which necessitated frequent stops for repairs. The damage was not as great as reported by the Gallia.

On October 10, in lat. 46 30 N., long. 47 W., signalled bark Westmoreland (Dorchester, N. B.) Virge from Cape Tormentine, October 1, for Preston, Eng., wished to be reported all well.

Two Men Drowned.

Marblehead, Mass., Oct. 17. The schooner Alfred A., Capt. Albert Peters, owned by the Rockport (Mass.) Granite Co., sank shortly after midnight near the outer Pig rocks off this port while on her way from Rockport to Boston, laden with paving stones. The crew consisted of the captain and three hands, all hailing from Rockport. The captain and one of the crew, John Allen, were saved, and Phillip E. Conley and Merrill Reed went to a watery grave.

A Steamer Sunk with a Large Number Aboard.

Believed 150 Lives were Lost, Victims Being of Both Sexes.

Triton was Proceeding from Havana to Pinar del Rio.

Scene of Terrible Panic When She Struck Rock and Sank.

Havana, Oct. 17. The gunboat Maria Cristina, which left for the scene of the wreck of the coasting steamer Triton, from Havana to Bahia Honda, Pinar del Rio, which sank yesterday between Dominica and Mariel, has returned with a tug.

The gunboat had on board 19 and the tug 23 survivors.

The whereabouts of the others are unknown.

The Triton struck a rock during a heavy rainstorm. Her cargo shifted and she sank. A scene of terrible panic ensued.

It is believed 150 lives were lost.

The survivors suffered severely.

MINING TOWN BURNED.

Two Lives Lost and Several Persons Injured—Camp Completely Destroyed.

Auburn, Cal., Oct. 17. The town of Iowa Hill, a mining camp of about 500 inhabitants, was completely destroyed by fire last night.

Two men were burned to death and several others injured.

FIRE RECORD.

Destruction of Bradford, N. H.

Bradford, N. H., Oct. 17. Hotel Gillis and the dwelling house of Silas Sawtelle were burned this afternoon, and not only that, but the high wind carried the blazing sparks far and wide, threatening destruction to the compact part of the village.

A call for help was sent to Concord and a special train with a steamer and engine came here, and their assistance checked the flames. The loss is roughly estimated at $10,000.

Fire at Fall River.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 17. The Bowenville company's coal sheds were completely destroyed by fire this afternoon, with a loss of $10,000.

Old House Burned.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 17. The old Eben Dale mansion at Freshwater Cove, near Magnolia, was completely burned this noon with a loss of $15,000. The fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin. The fire department from this city had a long run to the scene of the fire, but succeeded in saving the stable and other outbuildings.

The insurance is said to amount to about $8,000.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Reciprocity Between United States and Germany.

Berlin, Oct. 16. Shortly after the Dingley tariff went into effect the officials of the American embassy informed the German government that the United States was willing to begin negotiations for a reciprocity treaty. No answer has thus far been made but preparations are making to open negotiations. The whole work of the reciprocity preliminaries, however, is retarded by the fact that the cabinet crisis is still on.

Erroneous and misleading reports as to the effects of the new United States tariff on German industry continue to appear in the press. Consul General Goldschmidt has just compiled an official list of German exports, from which it appears that there has been a great decrease in two ports for the quarter ending Sept. 30, largely due to the very great haste in crowding exports to America prior to the Dingley bill becoming law; but the decrease in the whole of Germany is only 34 per cent., and not 38 per cent. as reported by the Kreuz Zeitung. Mr. Goldschmidt points out that the decrease is mostly in sugar.

Maine Pensions.

Washington, Oct. 16. The following pension changes, resulting from the issue of October 2, are announced:

Maine—Increase, James Smith, Soldiers' Home, Kennebec; George W. Colby, Lisbon Center; Dennis W. Palmer, Hermon Center. Original, widow, Angouleme Maddocks, Burketville.

Plucky Keeper Captured Lion.

New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 17. A big lion escaped from a travelling zoo which was here semi-centennial week, at Smith Mills this morning while the caravan was en route from this city to Fall River. The keeper pluckily pursued the beast across the fields and getting a noose over its head choked the animal into subjection.

Sunday Base Ball Game.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 17. About 1,500 people witnessed the game between the Baltimore and All-Americans here today. The champions gave a very poor exhibition of ball playing, while the All-Americans put up a very pretty game and won with ease, 9 to 3.

There was a serio-comic incident at the Union station in Portland Tuesday afternoon which aroused the smiles and the sympathy of those who witnessed it. The Boston express was just about to pull out of the depot. A well known politician was just about to jump aboard the train when the tearful little woman who had been pleading earnestly with him suddenly grabbed his hat and started on a run for the gate. Before the political light recovered from his surprise, she was flying far away. Then the hatless individual gave the alarm, and two men followed him to the street, but the bird had flown. The detachment returned, and just as the engine puffed its way out the gentleman swung himself upon the platform, remarking as he did so: "She wanted me to stay at home—but I will fool her, although I am out $3 by the operation. At Boston I will buy a new one."

Mr. Frank B. Freeman lives at 100 Brackett street, Portland, and his family is under his dwelling. In one of the rooms of the house Thursday night he had a lighted hanging lamp that rested against the wall between two windows, and under the lamp was a sewing machine. On the sewing machine he deposited another lighted lamp, the chimney of the second lamp coming within four or five inches of the hanging lamp. Under the circumstances it didn't take long for the oil in the hanging lamp to become heated to the boiling point and the lamp exploded, setting fire to the woodwork and scattering the burning oil in every direction. Cumberland 3 men came in with the pony chemicals and quickly extinguished the flames before much damage was done. The loss was covered by insurance. Mr. Freeman in his efforts to put out the fire burned his hand badly.

WINDSOR IN ASHES.

Beautiful and Ancient Town of Nova Scotia Destroyed.

Fire Raged Fiercely There on Sunday And Cause Heavy Loss.

Thousands of People Homeless—Scene of Desolation Presented.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 17. The town of Windsor, the seat of Hants county, 35 miles from this city, was wiped out by fire today. Few buildings in the town were left standing, and five thousand people are homeless.

Windsor is situated on the Dominion Atlantic railway, on the western coast of the province, and is the seat of King's College.

As far as known no lives were lost.

The Losses.

Windsor, N. S., Oct. 17. The total loss is estimated roughly at $3,000.

While a number of the heaviest losers are partially insured and some of them pretty well covered, the total insurance is calculated to be not more than half a million. The principal losses are the following:

C. M. Shaw's marine block $17,000; W. A. Curry & Co., $10,000; Shaw Bros., $6,000; Paysant's block, $18,000; Graham's block, $20,000; Victoria Hotel, $10,000; Blanchard block, $22,000; C. & G. Wilson's block, $18,000; Dimock & Armstrong's $23,000; J. B. Shaw's block, $21,000; C. H. Dimock's block, $10,000. Building of F. F. Murphy and Wood & Murphy, $17,000; Commercial block $20,000; C. P. Shaw, $12,000; G. D. Geldert & Co., $30,000; A. E. Robinson, $12,000; Churchill's block, $23,000; Keith's building, $5,000; Wilson Bros., $23,000; Gerrish block, $21,000; Borden block, $14,000; postoffice and custom house, $26,000; Empire block, $10,000; John Lynch & Son, $10,000; Avon Hotel, $9,000; Somerset House, $10,000; Gerrish Hall, $15,000; gaol and court house, $19,000; Method st church, $15,000.

Historic Windsor in Ashes.

Windsor, N. S., Oct. 17. Historic Windsor, one of the most beautiful towns in the provinces, was devastated by flames this morning. For six hours, beginning at 3 a. m., the fire raged, fanned by a gale. Long before noon the town had been almost completely eaten up, the area covered by the flames being almost a mile square and of the four hundred or more buildings occupying this section barely half a dozen scorched structures remain.

No Nova Scotia town has ever been visited by a conflagration of such dimensions. Of the 3,500 people inhabiting the place there are very few who have homes of their own tonight.

The disaster is appalling. The fire started in a barn behind the Marine block, in the heart of the business district.

BATES DEFEATED U. OF M.

A Sensational and Unexpected Ending—Tufts Won from Bowdoin—Other Foot Ball Games.

Lewiston, Me., Oct. 16. The largest crowd that ever saw a foot ball game in this city was present at Lee Park this afternoon to witness the contest between the University of Maine and Bates College. The weather was excessively warm.

The game was full of sensations. With three seconds to play and the score four to nothing in favor of the university boys, a goal was kicked from the field by Halliday, and the game was won by a score of 5 to 4.

The university kicked off. Bruce of Bates went round left end for 20 yards and Russell for eight yards, and then the ball was lost by Bates on a fumble. The university got to within a foot of the goal. Bates held and punted to the middle of the field and the half ended without either side scoring.

In the second half Bates kicked off, and a wonderful run of 45 yards was made by Ellis. The play was on Bates ground for about 12 minutes, when Sawyer was pushed over for a touchdown for Maine. French failed on an easy goal.

Bates kicked to the university's 30-yard line and worked the ball to the 20-yard line. A dispute arose over the time, the university lineman claiming that there was only a second, and the Bates man insisting that it was a minute. They compromised on 30 seconds. The ball was rushed down to the five-yard line by Bates, and with only three seconds to play Halliday lifted the pigskin over the bar for a goal.

Bowdoin Defeated.

Brunswick, Me., Oct. 16. Tufts played an excellent game against Bowdoin today.

Bowdoin kicked off to Tufts' 25 yard line and held her for downs. Bowdoin soon lost the ball by a fumble, and Tufts by quick line plays, forced the ball straight down the field for a touchdown. Maddocks kicked the goal.

Bowdoin kicked off and Tufts' back played great ball. They soon forced Rand over for another touchdown. Maddocks kicked the second goal. Score, Tufts, 12; Bowdoin, 0.

In the second half Bowdoin took a great brace, Veazie and Gregson made great gains and Ives went over for a touchdown and kicked his own goal.

Tufts kicked off and soon got the ball on downs and rushed the Bowdoin team down the field for a third touchdown. Maddocks kicked goal. Tufts, 18; Bowdoin, 6.

Tufts did some fine team work, while that of Bowdoin was extremely weak and showed a great lack of confidence. Six of her best men were disabled, due mostly to injudicious work in practice.

Negotiations Between Spain and the Present Chiefs.

Of Cuban Autonomist Party Not Produced Expected Results.

Papers Urge Crushing the Rebellion by the Force of Arms.

Madrid, Oct. 17. El Impartial says the negotiations between the government and the chiefs of the Cuban autonomist party have not produced the expected results.

The ministerial organs urge "energetic action to crush the rebellion by force of arms."

The increase in the issue of banknotes by the Bank of Spain has created a bad impression.

A case of peculiar interest to bicycle riders is before the Oxford supreme court, as it will more clearly define their liabilities for injuries caused by frightening horses when wheeling along the highway. Harold C. Chapman of Bethel, the plaintiff, presented his version of the affair: "I am a fish peddler. April 25, 1896, I drove to Bethel village and hitched my horse to a post commonly used for such a purpose, between the carriage road and the sidewalk on Main street, so that the part of the springboard nearest the street was more than four feet from the main traveled part of the highway. While I was in the neighboring store Robert C. Bisbee came on the first wheel of the season. While looking over his shoulder at some friends, he ran into my team. My horse kicked and plunged in fright and received injuries that resulted in his death." The defense claimed that a bicycle had equal rights with a carriage upon the highways. If the defendant in the exercise of ordinary care runs into a team hitched in the street he is not liable for damages. In this case Mr. Bisbee was wheeling along when the plaintiff's horse suddenly backed the springboard against his bicycle. The horse if damaged at all was injured as the result of his own actions. So many witnesses were sworn that the court asked if the attorneys were reading from the voting list of Bethel.

The work of constructing the new telephone line between Rockland and Vinalhaven is at present almost at a standstill. The reason is that all of the poles that have arrived have been erected and the company are patiently waiting for a cargo of poles which are expected daily before any more work can be done.

There is a family of deer in Randolph or at least they were there last week. A buck, doe and fawn were seen on the farm of Weston Lewis. It is unlawful to shoot deer in that county at any time time and there will probably be quite a herd of them in the counties that are protected by the time the restrictions are removed.

Mr. and Mrs. George Woodin, of Bath, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage Thursday at their home on upper Washington street. Many friends called to congratulate them. The day was beautiful and the occasion was of rare interest. Refreshments were served to all callers and the venerable couple were delightful in their hospitality. They are in excellent health and have prospect of many happy years before them.

HOOD'S CURES

Catarrh and Bronchial Trouble—Had no Appetite—Now Better in Every Way—A Delicate Child.

"Some time since I took a sudden cold and could not get rid of it. Being subject to catarrh and bronchial trouble I coughed terribly. I lost my appetite and grew poor and weak and I did not feel like work. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. In a short time the cough disappeared, I slept well, had a good appetite and I was better in every way. Last spring I was not feeling well, I had no appetite and no strength. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon felt more like work. My little nephew was a delicate child and had a humor which troubled him so he could not rest at night. He has taken a few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and now he has a good appetite and is able to sleep." MISS ANNA J. FREEMAN, South Duxbury, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Echoes of the Festival.

So far as Bangor is concerned the Musical Festival is now a thing of the past; but its influence and educational effects will remain to uplift and encourage all lovers of good music for a long time to come. The festival was a success in the broadest and best sense of the term. From the very inception of the project it met with a most enthusiastic response from the people, an enthusiasm maintained in a remarkable degree when one stops to consider the magnitude of the event in all of its details. The business men manifested their enthusiasm in the manner in which they responded to the demand for a building adequate to the needs of the festival; the musical people were equally enthusiastic in carrying on the work of organization and in supplying a chorus in keeping with the high standard of the entertainment prepared by Director Chapman; the public generally gave evidence of its enthusiasm in the character and size of the audiences assembled throughout the festival, audiences in every way worthy of the grand array of talent that has served to make this the most memorable musical event in the history of the State. To say that the people are delighted with the success of the festival but mildly expresses the sentiments of the thousands who have visited the auditorium during the week just closed. The scene is now transferred to Portland, where we have no doubt the festival will score another signal success and add to the magnificent achievements that will dound to the credit and advantage of the State.

Concerning Clothing.

A New York free trade paper recently took occasion to sympathize with the poor people on the ground that while they were able to wear pure wool clothing under the Wilson law, under the existing law their share of prosperity would be "cotton-back" clothing. Concerning the operation of the Wilson law the American Wool and Cotton Reporter says that importations of foreign shoddy jumped from 143,000 pounds during the last year of the McKinley tariff to 14,000,000 pounds in 1895, to 18,000,000 pounds in 1896 and to 49,000,000 pounds in 1897. Coming down to the effects of these importations upon clothing the same authority says:

"It is a notorious fact that our markets were flooded in 1895 and 1896 with 'rotten' foreign goods. Any manufacturing clothier will verify this statement. Goods were made in England and rushed into this country, which, frankly speaking, were a disgrace to humanity. We speak from knowledge, having had plenty of opportunity to sample the importations. It is a wonder that the refuse from which the yarn was spun ever held together during the process. It is pretty certain that much of it did not hold together very long after it was on the wearers' backs. Whatever may have been the cause, people were poor in this country during the continuance of the Wilson law, and the cry was for cheapness. The 'rotten' foreign goods were given a finish which made them look attractive and the result was they drove out of the market enormous quantities of domestic wares. One of the most pernicious consequences of this movement was that eventually our own manufacturers were tempted to cheapen their product in order to stay in business.

It is safe to state that this summary of the operation of the Wilson law, which not only resulted in "rotten" clothing, but paralyzed the entire business of the country, will not be given a place in the columns of the New York Evening Post.

A Question of Revenue.

The American Economist says the enemies of the United States, those free trade papers that delight in aiding and abetting anything that will be disastrous to their country, have been writing their ink wells dry with predictions of disaster to the National revenue, that would involve further issues of bonds, because there was a deficiency in the first month's ... under the Dingley tariff.

These enemies of their country knew well enough that the customs revenue during the early months of the Dingley bill must be below the average because of the large imports of foreign goods that had been received in the months immediately preceding its enactment, for the purpose of evading the protective duties that would be collected under the new law. The free trade enemies of their country knew this, but they were not honest enough to admit it. They preferred to predict disaster and ruin based upon no foundation of fact.

We now invite these free trade papers to publish the following little table, which gives, side by side, the total revenue collected during the first two months' operations of both the Dingley and the Wilson tariffs. Thus:

WILSON BILL REVENUE, 1894.

Receipts from:	September.	October.
Customs	$15,564,961	$11,962,118
Internal revenue	12,182,149	6,463,453
Miscellaneous	871,929	653,684
Total	$28,618,[illegible]29	$19,130,240

DINGLEY BILL REVENUE, 1897.

Receipts from:	August.	September.
Customs	$6,987,703	$7,015,100
Internal revenue	11,193,190	12,701,030
Miscellaneous	842,727	1,298,024
Total	$19,023,615	$21,933,008

The total National revenue received during the first month's operation of the Wilson bill was $21,621,220. In its second month the revenue fell to $19,130,240. The total National revenue received during the first month's operation of the Dingley bill was $19,023,615. In its second month the revenue had increased to $21,933,008, or $2,793,858 more than the total revenue received during the second month of the Wilson bill. Let us look at this question of revenue from another standpoint, and compare both receipts and expenditures during the first two months of each law, as follows:

WILSON BILL, FIRST TWO MONTHS, 1894.

	September.	October.
Expenses	$30,323,019	$32,715,040
Receipts	22,621,829	19,130,240
Deficiency	$7,701,190	$13,575,800

DINGLEY BILL, FIRST TWO MONTHS, 1897.

	August.	September.
Expenses	$31,558,047	$25,353,816
Receipts	19,023,615	21,933,056
Deficiency	$12,534,432	$3,425,719

In the first month of the Dingley bill the deficiency was nearly $7,000,000 more than in the first month of the Wilson bill. In the second month of the Dingley bill the deficiency was over $10,000,000 less than in the second month of the Wilson bill. The Wilson bill deficit grew as the bill got older. The Dingley bill deficit decreased.

Briefly summarizing these results for the benefit of free trade editors, we have the following:

FIRST TWO MONTHS.

	Wilson Bill.	Dingley Bill.
Expenditures	$63,038,059	$56,[illegible]
Receipts	41,760,469	40,956,713
Deficiency	$21,275,590	$18,000,150

Comparing the operations of the first two months of each law, we find that the deficiency under the Wilson bill was $3,275,440 greater than under the Dingley bill. We have also found that, in the second month of the Dingley bill, the deficiency was more than $10,000,000 less than the deficiency in the second month of the Wilson bill. We have also found that, in the second month of the Dingley bill, the total revenue was $2,793,858 greater than in the second month of the Wilson bill. What have the free traders to say now?

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

Every Mother should have it in the house for colds, coughs, colic, croup, cholera morbus. For bites, burns, bruises, sprains or strains it is the sovereign cure. All who use it are amazed at its power and praise it ever after. It soothes every ache, every lameness, every pain, every muscular soreness everywhere, whether internal or external, and in nine cases in ten speedily relieves and cures. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was originated in 1810, by the late Dr. A. Johnson, an old fashioned Family Physician, to cure all ailments accompanied with irritation and inflammation.

The Real Danger from every known ailment of mankind is caused by inflammation; cure the inflammation and you have conquered the disease in each case. Inflammation is manifested outwardly by redness, swelling and heat; inwardly by congestion of the blood vessels, growth of unsound tissue, fever, pain and disease. The vital organs form one complete plan mutually dependent; therefore inflammation anywhere is felt more or less everywhere, and impairs the general good health of any person.

INFLAMMATION

External Inflammation accompanies bruises, bites, stings, burns, scalds, chaps, cracks, strains, sprains, fractures, etc.; and is the chief danger therefrom. Internal Inflammation frequently causes outward swellings; as instances familiar to all we mention pimples, toothache, stiff joints and rheumatism. Yet the great majority of internal inflammations make no outside show, for which reason they are often more dangerous; as for example: pneumonia, peritonitis, appendicitis, etc. For full information about all inflammatory diseases, send for our book INFLAMMATION and Care of Sick Room, sent free by mail. MURDEROUS ATTACK

Made by a Stamford Servant on Her Mistress.

Inflicted Fatal Injuries with an Axe—Woman's Husband and Daughter Injured.

Stamford, Ct., Oct. 16.—Lizzie Fleming, 35, a servant in the employ of Alanzan C. Dixon, a Stamford grocer, was seized with homicidal mania shortly before midnight, and arming herself with an axe, entered her mistress' sleeping room, attacked Mrs. Dixon, inflicting probable fatal injuries, and wounding Mr. Dixon and his daughter. She then escaped and was found this morning unconscious under the front porch of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon are at the hospital and Mrs. Dixon, it is expected will die.

The Fleming woman is about 35 years of age and is of Irish descent. Between 10 and 12 years ago she was taken by Mrs. Dixon from a public institution where she was receiving treatment for mental weakness, and has since been kept in the family.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock as stated above, the woman procured an axe, and entering her mistress' sleeping room, struck Mrs. Dixon on the head with the weapon. The victim's skull was fractured and her head badly gashed. Mr. Dixon was awakened to find the servant about to deal another blow. Thinking she was a burglar the man jumped from his bed and grappled with the woman. A fierce struggle ensued in the course of which Mr. Dixon sustained an ugly wound in the head, his knee was cut, and two fingers were nearly severed from one hand.

As the struggling pair fought they reached the hall when Miss Cynthia Dixon, aged 20 years, was awakened and rushed to the assistance of her father. The young lady was also injured, receiving a cut on the head. The struggle lasted some moments when the servant succeeded in loosening herself and running to the lower part of the house, let herself out the rear door, locked it and evidently crawled under the porch.

Neighbors were aroused and a search for the missing woman was begun. Mrs. Dixon was at once removed to the hospital, where it was found necessary to perform the operation of trepanning.

Her condition this morning is announced as practically hopeless. At 9 o'clock today Mr. Dixon was forced to go to the hospital, but his injuries are not thought to be practically serious. The Dixon residence is located on Prospect street, near Strawberry Hill, the fashionable section of the town.

The Fleming woman was kept in the Dixon house because she was known to Mrs. Dixon and the latter was prompted by a desire to save her from a life in the almshouse.

QUITE A GAIN.

What Is Shown In Harvard University Directory.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 16.—The Harvard university directory which was issued today shows a gain in the number of students registered in all departments. The total figures are still incomplete and the detailed figures of the classes and several departments will not be completed for a few weeks.

The figures as they stand show a total registration of 3,730, inclusive of Radcliffe college, as against 3,590, last year, or a gain of 140 this year as against a gain of 24 the year before. The greater part of this gain is in the faculty of arts and sciences which includes the college, the scientific school and the graduate school.

These three departments have enrolled 2,531 students as against 2,400 last year. The law school has enrolled 501 men, the medical school 533, and the other departments 174.

It is expected that when the catalogue goes to press in December an even greater gain will be shown in all departments.

Question of the Debate.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 16.—It has been finally decided that the question for the coming inter-collegiate debate between the representatives of Yale and Harvard, will be as follows:

"Resolved, That the United States should annex the Hawaiian Islands."

The debate will take place in New Haven early in December. Several subjects have been proposed but it is probable that the final selection will be determined by the action on the treaty.

It is desirable that the discussion be not effected by the outcome of the Senate debate.

Bets on Verdict in Luetgert Case

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The closing day of the eighth week of the Luetgert trial opened this morning. Ex-Judge Vincent continued to "roast" the experts for the prosecution, while he protected and lauded the experts for the defense. He talked about the soap making in the factory and positively declared that there was nothing strange about it and that the reason for making the soap had been fully explained.

States Attorney Deenen will make the closing speech on Monday. Ex-Judge Vincent made an unexpectedly lengthy address and the famous case probably will not reach the jury before Tuesday afternoon.

Betting is going on in Chicago pool rooms on the verdict of the jury. Sports who declare the corpus delicti has not been shown sufficiently to warrant conviction, are said to be offering bets of 60 to 40 on the proposition that Luetgert will be acquitted.

May Coach Harvard Crew.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 16.—Capt. Goodrich of the Harvard 'varsity crew, was asked this afternoon in regard to the report that H. Willis, who has rowed third on the Leander crew for the past few years, and is a pupil of Mr. Lehmann, was coming over this fall to help in the training of this year's crew.

Capt. Goodrich stated that he expected Mr. Willis to come over with Mr. Lehmann, arriving in New York next week, but that he considered that the trip would be one of pleasure, although Mr. Willis may possibly do a little coaching.

As to the report that J. C. Gold, the Oxford and Leander oarsman, was coming over here to row stroke, for a time, with the Harvard crew, in order to teach the English stroke more effectively, Capt. Goodrich said he knew nothing about it, but had been of the opinion that Mr. Gold had changed his mind about coming to America and was going back to Oxford.

Coasting Steamer Wrecked.

Havana, Oct. 16.—The coasting steamer Triton, from Havana to Bahia-Honda, province of Pinar del Rio, has been wrecked between Dominica and Mariel, on the north coast of that province. The steamer went ashore this morning, during heavy weather, grounding about eight miles from the coast. The purser and one of the passengers have arrived at Mariel.

They say they have no knowledge regarding the fate of the captain, the passengers, soldiers and civilians, and the thirty members of the crew. The missing include several well-known merchants.

The Spanish gunboat Maria Christina and the tug Louisle have left this port for the scene of the wreck.

Will be Tried by Court Martial.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Secretary Alger today, after a further consultation with the President and with Gen. Miles, issued an order to Gen. Brooke at Chicago in relation to the case of Capt. L. A. Lovering, 4th Infantry, who is charged with the ill-treatment of Private Hammond at Fort Sheridan. The order is withheld from publication until it reaches Gen. Brooke, but it is believed that it directs the trial of the officer by court martial.

Hot Weather in Boston.

Boston, Oct. 16.—The hot weather of yesterday continued today, but according to Uncle Sam's forecasters, it is not so warm as it was yesterday, but it was much more uncomfortable.

The temperature in this city at 8 o'clock this morning was 72 degrees; at 9 o'clock 75 degrees; at 10 o'clock over 80 degrees.

Paul Schneider, a laborer, was overcome by the heat. He was taken to the city hospital and is in a serious condition.

Held for Robbing Mail.

Boston, Oct. 16.—Francis O. La Redhead, 22, for the past six years an employe in the Lowell post office, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Richard W. Hale this noon, charged with robbing the United States mail. Redhead pleaded not guilty, waived examination, and was held for the October term of the grand jury. Bail was fixed at $1,500. Up to 2 o'clock he had not secured bail but expected to do so later in the day.

DEED OF A LUNATIC.

Shot and Instantly Killed a Massachusetts Farmer.

Maniac's Mother Was Afraid of Him and Resided at Victim's House.

Great Barrington, Mass., Oct. 16.—George Spencer, a grand army veteran, was shot and instantly killed at Hartsville, this morning by Nathan Mosely, a half-witted man.

Mosely fled to the woods immediately after the shooting, and searching parties were dispatched in all directions.

Spencer was 53 years old and leaves a widow and three children.

He fell from aloft off Cape Cod ... last evening. Capt. Doane sent ... to the Chelsea Marine hospital for treatment.

Perished on the Way.

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—Advices received from A. C. Wright, of Seattle tend strongly to the belief that Henry F. Newman, and Wm. J. Schwartz of San Francisco, together with four companions whose names cannot be learned, have perished on the Taku river while on their way to Klondike. The platest ... that can be deduced from the meagre information at hand is that the entire party was massacred by Indians or else drowned in the swift current of the Alaskan stream.

The Clara E. McGilvery Aground.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Oct. 16.—The barkentine Clara E. McGilvery, Capt. Lynch, which left Charleston, S. C., Oct. 6, for Boston, with a cargo of pine lumber, ran aground on the middle ground shoals off here, at 3 o'clock this morning, during hazy weather. The steam water boat, Susie D., went to her aid, and the barkentine was floated this forenoon. She was apparently uninjured and proceeded.

Held on Charge of Robbing.

New York, Oct. 16.—Garabed Bersinian and Kalker Bersinian, two young Armenians, wire workers, were held in $300 bail each this morning at Yorkville police court, charged with robbing. The complainant was another Armenian, Kevorak Nalbanbian, aged 18, who came from Stamford, Ct., about two months ago. He brought $300 with him and he alleges that the brothers robbed him of this money.

One Death and Two Prostrations from Heat.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—One death and two prostrations is the record for yesterday, the hottest October day in the history of the local weather bureau. The temperature went as high as 87 breaking all records for the month.

It is a hard matter to find an American home no matter how humble in which there is not music of some kind. It may be the music of a piano an organ a guitar a banjo or simply the music of a human voice There can't be no question as to its refining influence But there is one kind of music that is missing from tens of thousands of homes and without which they can be thoroughly happy —of children's laughter [illegible] is the best music for the [illegible] baby is the only tie that can [illegible] together in absolute happiness [illegible] man and a wo[man] [illegible] cold and cheerless home that [illegible] music of a baby's laugh [illegible] the sands of homes all over [illegible] that were once cheerless and [illegible] are to day happy and lighted [illegible] blest Doctor [illegible] Prescription It is the [illegible] for women who suffer [illegible] sense of the disability [illegible] It acts directly on the [illegible] organs giving them [illegible] vigor and elasticity It [illegible] inflammation heals ulceration [illegible] stops debilitating drains and [illegible] It fits for wifehood and [illegible] maternity of its perils [illegible] of the expectant [illegible] makes baby's advent easy and [illegible] It insures the child's [illegible] ample supply of nourish[ment] [illegible] the discovery of Dr R V [illegible] eminent and skillful specialist [illegible] of consulting physician [illegible] Hotel and Surgical Insti[tute] [illegible] N Y All good druggists

[illegible] of the [illegible] trick [illegible] [illegible]

It [illegible] Tenapo [illegible] was [illegible]

[illegible] I wanted to marry a [illegible] little girl [illegible] she was [illegible] In [illegible] of her parents or it would have been [illegible] orphan at a very early age As she had no property [illegible] looked after her to the extent of having [illegible] [illegible] there was no one who could give consent to her marriage A legal friend of mine [illegible] [illegible] Maddox [illegible] the girl's guardian [illegible] At first [illegible] [illegible] declined to [illegible] He said the girl was [illegible] [illegible] could not [illegible] [illegible] under age

What did you do?

Well I told [illegible] to his appointment as guardian revoked but the court decided that he had [illegible] perfect right to act so to give [illegible] and as he was not in any way transgressing his powers as guardian [illegible] not [illegible] removed [illegible] [illegible] him on [illegible]

And didn't you marry the girl after all?

She is now Mrs Gazza

How did you manage it? Did you elope?

No. She became of age a year after that and then we married without asking his consent but it was a shabby trick of his to make me wait so long when his appointment as guardian had been obtained for the sole purpose of [illegible] consent to the ceremony —St. Louis Post Dispatch

Arranging Window Garden Plants.

In arranging plants in the window garden aim always to have the view from the room pleasing writes Eben E. Rexford of [illegible] Window Gardening in The Ladies' Home Journal They are for [illegible] and they should be most attractive from the home standpoint. A good general rule to follow for effectiveness in arrangement is to have the taller ones at the sides this [illegible] the window [illegible] allows the sun to get at the center of the group If all the plants are sun loving ones dispose the low growing ones next the glass with the taller ones behind them. Do not crowd any of them. The use of swinging iron brackets at each side of the window frame is highly advisable from the standpoint of utility as well as looks Those holding the pots enable [illegible] to arrange all plants of a drooping nature, so that the effect is very fine. These brackets can be swung to or from the glass at [illegible] [illegible]

FOREIGN NEWS.

First Autumn Meeting of the English Cabinet.

Son of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough Christened.

London, Oct. 16—The British cabinet this morning held its first autumn meeting at the foreign offices. The premier Lord Salisbury, presided and all the ministers with the exception of Lord James the chancellor, of the Duchy of Lancaster of the board of agriculture were in attendance

The cabinet meeting lasted two hours It is understood that the question of re-opening the Indian mints for the coinage of silver was not decided but it is added the matter was discussed and will shortly form the subject of further communications between the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks Beach, and the United States monetary commission

In addition to discussing the silver question it is understood that the cabinet ministers were occupied in deliberating upon the Anglo-French situation in west Africa and in reviewing the Cretan situation

The question regarding the Indian mints re-opening for the coinage of silver was the subject of further communications between the chancellor of the exchequer and the monetary commission It is believed the British government has reached a decision not to enter into an international monetary conference Further meetings with the American commissioners will be held simply because they were previously arranged as cabled last week

In regard to India it is regarded as certain that the mints will not be reopened at present or until the Indian authorities are fully prepared and though the decision rests with Downing street it is certain that the views of India will prevail and it is known that the Indian authorities oppose the step

No Decision Arrived at

London Oct 16—It is now said that no conclusion in regard to the answer to be given to the United States monetary commission had been arrived when the cabinet meeting adjourned

HAPPILY REUNITED.

An Oakland Man Finds His Daughter After 21 Years

Boston Oct 16—A special from Portland to the Herald says In the fall of 1876 Robert Damren lived at Oakland Me He was a brakeman on a night freight, between Skowhegan and Portland After bidding his little daughter good bye one morning he went away from home for two weeks

On his return Mrs Damren explained to him that a Mrs Philpot of Norridgewock had been visiting in Oakland and seeing the girl and taking a fancy to her asked to take her home with her

The next day Mrs Damren was taken with diphtheria The husband could not return to work and it was six weeks before his wife was out of danger

The little girl had not been sent back and Damren began making inquiries for her He found that Mrs Philpot had not only left Norridgewock, but no trace of her could be found

Little Alice and Maud Damren had disappeared and all efforts to find her were unsuccessful In August Mr Damren who now lives at Oakland was fishing with Fred Harding of Sydney Harding asked Mr Damren if he knew a man in Norridgewock by the name of Philpot Damren answered that he did not but he had cause to remember a woman by that name Mr Damren learned through Mr Harding that his daughter was known as Miss Alice Maude Wormell and that she is a clerk in Irving's confectionery store on Congress street, this city The father soon found her and both are overjoyed at the reunion

THE THEATRE HORROR.

Rotten Timbers the Cause of the Collapse of Dome.

Further Particulars of the Catastrophe at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Cincinnati O, Oct. 16—The common expression today with reference to the disaster at Robinson's opera house is what good fortune it was the house had so few people in it"

It has not yet been definitely determined how many persons were killed and the unknown man who was killed is still unidentified The chief interest now centres in the case of the dreadful accident From a careful examination it appears that not only was the construction faulty, but the work and material were defective In a word the timbers were rotten

The walls which are not more than eight inches were dry and parched with age There is a space of ten feet in the centre between the ceiling and the roof In order to support the roof and ceiling trusses were run across from the west to east wall There are four of these trusses All were made of wood and connected by pieces of joists with bolt head[s]

Between the two trusses in the middle was hung the dome It was nine feet to 15 feet in diameter and about 15 feet in circumference The inside of it was lathed and plastered and highly decorated From the centre of it hung a chandelier containing 10 or 20 lights

The space between the ceiling and the roof might be called an attic The only [one] [illegible] visited the apartment was to [illegible] the chandelier but [illegible] [illegible]

After the accident an investigation showed that the trusses and timbers [illegible] were rotten They had been [illegible] so long that they had warped and parted This caused the bolts and nails to loosen The entire construction was thrown out of gear, and the weight of the dome brought it down and with it came mortar bricks and rafters

After the dust had cleared away the [illegible] was found upright on the backs of the parquet chairs It is tilted as it fell

It is thought that on account of its [illegible] [illegible] to lessen [illegible] the [illegible] force [illegible]

When the [illegible] first began to sag it took the rafters with it Some of them were [illegible] in the walls and hung over the railing of the gallery [illegible] [illegible]

Another theory advanced to account for the falling of the dome and trusses is that the building has been injured by the jarring of the heavy machinery of an electric light plant in the neighborhood Residents in the neighborhood [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The [illegible] of [illegible] was [illegible] in the list of [illegible] [illegible]

It has been discovered that this was a mistake growing out of a misidentification of Mrs Kleven [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] tonight [illegible]

First Business Session

President James Houghteling called the first business session of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of the United States to order in Music hall at 10 30 o'clock this morning The Canadian delegation met at the same hour in Concert hall in the same building

After the reading of prayers by Rev Dr Morgan committee on resolutions and nominations of council were appointed

The report of the council giving a resume of the work of the officers during the past year was submitted showing a slow growth, the number of chapters being 1,[illegible]6 in 1897 as against 1,171 in 1896 The report was adopted as was the report of the treasurer which followed The greeting of the Canadian brothers was presented by a committee composed of Rt. Rev. Phillip Du Moulin lord bishop of Niagara and Judge Seigl of Ontario The lord bishop presented the greeting in a few remarks

President Houghteling appointed a committee to convey to the Canadian brotherhood the greeting of the brotherhood of the United States Rt. Rev H Y Satterlee, D D, bishop of Washington D C and C Harry Davis of Philadelphia A resolution was adopted pledging the proceeds of the self-denial fund for the first week in advent to the work in Japan Prof Woods of Bay City, Mich who is soon to go to Japan as the representative of the brotherhood addressed the convention

Not on Political Mission

New York, Oct 16 Princess Kaiulani, a niece of ex Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii, arrived here today on the Paris She is accompanied by her parents It is denied that the party comes on a political mission

Friday morning the much discussed Nott assault case was tried in the Saco municipal court The court room was filled with interested auditors while the circumstances of the affair in Mr Owen's store September 2 were narrated by the witnesses After a short hearing the court found the respondent guilty and imposed a fine of $8 and costs, Mr Nott appealed and was bound over on personal recognizance in the sum of $50. This finishes the first chapter in the case which has aroused so much interest in the two cities The second will be postponed until the January session of the supreme court held in Saco

The friends of a clerk at one of the Water street stores in Augusta are jollying him about an event that transpired Thursday An old gentleman hitched his horse in front of the said store, and after he had gone away someone moved the horse further down the street Upon his return, the irate old man accused the clerk of stealing his horse, much to that party's discomfiture, as he knew nothing about the matter. Arrest was threatened, and there was a stormy time until the animal was found.

The two boys who were arrested Thursday, charged with stealing tools from the basement of Webber & Gage's mill in Augusta, were arraigned before Judge Andrews at the municipal court Friday afternoon and pleaded guilty They were given a conditional sentence of 30 days in jail They will not be lodged in jail but the sentence will be held over them for good behavior in the future.

Mrs. John Dale, while coming out of the engine hall in Gardiner Thursday evening, where she had been to attend a religious service, fell in such a manner as to break a bone in her right ankle. Surgical assistance was summoned and she is as comfortable as could be expected

ALL OVER THE STATE.

R H Nott, of Saco, has brought suit against George F. Owen for a sum which he claims has been due him as rent since 1891 The bill in question dates from a time when Mr Nott owned half the building occupied by Mr. Owen, and rented it to the latter Mr Nott claims that the rent for one quarter was never paid, and sues to obtain it "I have brought suit against Mr. Owen on one of the old rent bills," said Mr Nott, "and have three or four others which I intend to sue for later You see there were several quarters for which he paid no rent and I am now going to take the matter into court " Mr Owen when seen said he had not heard of the new suit The summons was received by his counsel, J O Bradbury Mr Owen did not appear at all surprised He observed "It's the old story He will keep on bringing these suits until some day he will get more than he bargained for" The story of the trouble between these two Saco men is now well known and this is its latest development There are several suits pending, both ways

Down at the State prison, accessions to the population are being made daily The condemned men are brought in squads of four to ten men each The prison officials are kept busy receiving them, fitting them out in appropriate dress and getting them settled in their new quarters The work of assigning them to different shops is done by Warden Smith The men are brought into the guard room asked their name, age length of sentence, and former occupation A few questions quickly elicits such information as the warden desires and the assignment is soon made The whole number in the prison Thursday was 2[illegible]3 The prospective increase will swell the number so as to equal, if not exceed, the largest number ever held in the prison at one time. There are none to be set free the present month and only two whose sentences will expire in November

A Hallowell policeman is authority for it any way that that ancient and law abiding city numbers among its residents a man who can and will, when occasion presents itself, sit down to the largest pot of pork and beans and eat every anther can of beans and pork in the pot with the necessary brown bread, etc that accompanies it How the boarding house keepers, who delight to see their boarders eat as though they relished the food set before them, would rejoice in this man for a guest He is not only a hearty eater but we should think he might be called a fair drinker, as the same policeman says that the fellow long and single handed had been known to drink three quarts of Medford rum while driving from Augusta to Hallowell in a team The guardian of the peace was on duty at the time he told this so of course must have been sober and in his right mind and consequently it must have been a true tale

The new ferry boat for the Maine Central railroad to be used as a spare boat on the Bath and Woolwich route will be built by Kelley, Spear & Co of Bath The contract was awarded Saturday and calls for the completion of the hull in February The boat will be 133 ft length 32 ft breadth 11 ft depth She will have a single track for cars and will be about the same model as the City of Richmond but somewhat larger The dimensions of the City of Rockland are 1[illegible]3 2 ft length 32 ft breadth 10 2 ft. depth She was built in 1870 and continued in service until the Hercules was constructed in 1893 Her hull is in bad condition and she will probably be discarded Kelley Spear & Co have commenced work on the model for the new boat and it will furnish quite a little work for Bath wood workers The old engines of the City of Portland will be used The contract for the new boiler has not been awarded

We are pleased to see that D W Knight, of Peru, Me is clapboarding his house, because we think it must need some such attention, the shingles being replaced by the clapboards having been put on in 181[illegible]

For ten long years two sisters in York county tended a night blooming cereus and not a single blossom did it vouchsafe them in all that time Finally use it to make amends it burst into full bloom the other day at 10 a m

There is an inmate of the city almshouse at Lewiston who deserves a better fate He was a hard working self supporting man until he lost a leg Then his health became poor and he had to go to the farm Soon after the fireman died and this man asked for the place and got it Never had the farm such a good fireman before Then he began the work of cobbling shoes for the inmates He had never done such work before but he did it well He was not a carpenter but when it became necessary to put a new roof on an outbuilding he put it on When the city wouldn't provide a fire escape for the house he built one of wood He also developed ability to do mason work as well By this means he has become self supporting and deserves a fuller measure of success than he is likely to receive

For some time past a crowd of boys have been up to mischief about the common in Gardiner, causing great annoyance to several of the neighbors in that vicinity Wednesday evening the names of the boys were obtained and several of them were caught in the act of throwing apples and calling names at several passers by The names of the boys were placed in the hands of the authorities and unless the work stops the guilty ones will be given a chance to explain the matter before Judge Larrabee

Samuel L Bean, the Biddeford hardware dealer, has just come into possession of an old and to him at least, a very valuable document It is a commission issued in 1817 by Governor Brooks of Massachusetts, which then included Maine, making Mr Bean's father, Jacob Bean, an ensign in the infantry service It is signed by Governor John Brooks and by the secretary of the commonwealth, Alden Bradford Jacob Bean lived in what is now the town of Dayton He was afterward successively lieutenant and captain A cousin of Samuel L Bean got the document in Massachusetts about a year ago and Mr Bean received it from him

Isaiah Willett, a man about 30 years of age, was arrested Thursday afternoon by Officer Fickett in Portland on a charge of stealing two bicycles from Henry Newton Willett was before Judge Robinson Friday morning and his case occupied all the forenoon County Attorney Libby appeared for the State and Col George E. McQuillan for the defence On August, 1 the two boys visited Mr Newton's store and presented orders supposed to bear the signatures of reputable parties requesting Mr Newton to deliver bicycles to the boys The wheels were not returned and on investigation it was discovered that the orders were forged Mr Newton and the police have been at work on the case ever since and sufficient evidence has been obtained to warrant Willett's arrest Friday morning it appeared that Willett was in partnership at the time with a Mr Colpitts Mr. Colpitts took the stand and testified that Willett proposed to him that they should send out some boys and get some bicycles in order to board the proceeds Colpitts declined to have anything to do with the business A little later Willett showed Colpitts two bicycles and told him that they were to be turned over as part of the partnership concern Mr. Colpitts identified the wheel in court as one of the two that Willett showed him Mr Haggett testified that Willett brought a wheel to him which was originally green but had recently been painted maroon so badly that it attracted his attention Willett testified that he bought the wheels of a man and woman, paying a small price for them Judge Robinson sentenced Willett to 4 months in jail Col McQuillan gave notice of an appeal and Judge Robinson fixed the bail at $300

THE LITTLE BOY WHO RAN AWAY.

"I'm going now to run away,"
Said little Sammy Green one day
"Then I can do just what I choose.
I'll never have to black my shoes
Or wash my face or comb my hair
I'll find a place I know somewhere
And never have again to fill
That old chip basket so I will!"

"Goodby mamma," he said. "Goodby!"
He thought his mother then would cry
She only said "You going dear?"
And didn't shed a single tear
"There now," said Sammy Green "I know
She does not care if I do go
But Bridget does She'll have to fill
That old chip basket so she will!"

But Bridget only said "Well boy
You're off, for sure? I wish you joy
And Sammy a little sister Kate

FARM FIELD AND GARDEN

SHRINKAGE OF WHEAT

Shall We Sell or Not Directly From the Thrasher?

What is the gain in selling new wheat from the thresher at 70 cents over keeping it four months and selling at 80 cents? In other words what is the ordinary shrinkage in wheat when kept under ordinary conditions? This query was submitted for answer in The Rural New Yorker Among other replies came the following from L W Bonham of Ohio Mr Bonham writes

The first question involves more than ordinary shrinkage I have measured wheat at the time of thrashing and again after it had been stored in the granary several months but find that it is very difficult to arrive at a satisfactory answer The problem involves several factors such as the degree of dryness of the grain tightness of the granary, the number of rats, mice and fowls that find access and so on If grain be abnormally dry when it is thrashed and binned until spring without any loss from rats mice fowls and thieves there will be little or no loss of weight There may be a gain If the wheat be taken out during a thaw, when the air is warmer than the wheat in the granary, every grain collects a little dampness and by the time it has been sacked and carried to the scales the increase in weight may be considerable.

Professor Brewer several years ago reported for the government the atmospheric influences on wheat from the time it left the thrasher to the time it went into the hold of the vessel This report shows the condensation on the grain as it runs cold from an elevator of a warm day on the lake or ocean coast to be several per cent. The increase in weight of a carload of new wheat from the ranch in California to the port in San Francisco was enough more than to pay the freight This factor of condensation will vary so much between the time of thrashing in August and selling in the spring that the farmer needs more accurate means of measuring and weighing for making the test.

When the granary is so tight as to protect against any loss by vermin or thieves it is safe to count on taking out as many pounds in February or March as we put in in August or September The factor however that has concerned me more is the labor I have sold from the thrasher hauling direct to the elevator, and have stored it in the granary and for a short time on the barn floor when I could not get teams enough to haul to the elevator as fast as it was thrashed Keeping an accurate account of the cost of the two methods I have concluded that there is a saving in labor of 5 cents a bushel by hauling at once to the elevator If it should happen that the wind, rats fowls or men from neglect cause the grain to get so dirty in bulk as to need cleaning with a fanning mill then the cost is increased 1 or 2 cents Unless one is sure of more than 5 cents advance it is better to haul the grain to market as it comes from the thrasher when we thrash from the stack or stock If the grain is thrashed in the barn the labor of racking loading and hauling the thrashed grain from stack or field is saved and there is less gained by hauling direct from the machine to market.

The Campbell System.

In the semiarid region of Kansas and Nebraska tests are now being made in thorough tillage as a substitute for irrigation The work is being done under the Campbell system adopted by W H. Campbell of Iowa. The process begins with a thorough pulverizing of the surface for three or four inches with a disk harrow The land is then plowed eight inches deep the fine surface soil being turned to the bottom of the furrow After this comes the surface packer a tool packing the lower sub soil firmly leaving the surface loose. After this a drag makes the surface perfectly smooth Corn is planted with a check rower and such small grains as wheat and oats are drilled 20 inches apart The crops are cultivated at least once a week to a depth of two inches forming a mulch of loose earth Some of the western railroads are trying this system on model farms considering that when properly carried out it will add to the value of farm lands. In this connection Rural New Yorker says Many farmers not alone in the arid west scarcely realize how much is added to the fertility of the land by constant tillage It will certainly be a necessary complement to irrigation

Where Lightning Strikes.

American Cultivator explains that "all prominent objects invite lightning, the more so if isolated Where they abound as in towns the electricity is most likely to be drawn off invisibly While it is risky to stand under a tree in a thunder shower it is a protection to have high trees near a house. No doubt the column of invisible moisture ascending from a barn full of new hay makes a ready path for lightning. Besides the very combustible contents of a barn at any time (or the rubbish in an empty barn) may result in fire when a building less ignitible might not be fired by a lightning stroke

Sunflowers For Stock.

According to The New England Homestead, in Maine it has been decided that sunflowers are not nearly as profitable a crop to raise as corn With the same cultivation corn produces a third more protein and nearly twice as much carbohydrate material as sunflower heads. When compared with common red clover, the proportion is even greater, as clover contains nearly twice as much protein and more carbohydrates than sunflowers.

The Source of Chalybeate Waters.

The chalybeate waters of Tunbridge Wells are said to owe their ruddy tint and queer taste to the fact that St. Dunstan flung his pincers into them after that memorable encounter recorded in the old rhyme

St Dunstan, as the story goes,
Once pulled the devil by the nose
With red hot tongs, which made him roar,
That he was heard three miles or more,

or that the glowing proboscis—and a long snout is one of the most marked features of the fiend in the mediaeval art—was itself plunged into the healing well when its owner had taken a flying leap out of the saint's cell at Mayfield some nine or ten miles away.—Gentleman's Magazine

The State of Maine and the city of Belfast and town of Palermo as far as has yet been heard, hold the honor of having the oldest twins in America These twins are Mrs Mary Woods, of Belfast, and her sister, Mrs Elmira Belding, of Palermo, born in Montville in 1811, both smart, intelligent and entertaining women

Now an Eastport night watchman is authority for the statement that he was recently scared into a fainting fit by seeing a spook coffin borne by spook bearers A few nights ago a Fort Fairfield man saw what he took to be spooks coming out of a graveyard But when they knocked him down and robbed him of $61 he changed his mind, although it is possible, according to some theories that it was only a materialistic seance

Mr Edward J Barrett of Washington, D C, who has been visiting for several weeks in Camden, is so much pleased with the town and its surroundings that he intends to build a cottage there in the spring and make Camden his future home Mr Barrett is a former newspaper man having been city editor of the Brooklyn Eagle and sporting editor of the New York Journal He is the treasurer of the National Lumber Company of Washington, D C

W R Gill, of Camden, has a very clever horse who seems to understand a great deal more than most of her kind She is left day after day in front of Gill's store and if a carriage drives up that Bess thinks wants to step in front of her master's door she moves off quietly up the street to make room for the customers The other day a shower came up and Bess looked around for a place of shelter, and finally decided that Crockett & Pearson's stable was a suitable place, so over she walked and trotted in through the open door and remained there until the shower passed Bess knew enough to go in out of the rain

Ellsworth sees no reason why that town should not be resort for sportsmen in quest of woodcock Of this the American says This is a season when the sportsmen are rushing into the big woods in search of moose and deer, or tramping through field with dog and gun in search of smaller game Why don't they come to Hancock county? There is only one answer to that question—because they don't know the sport we offer them Is here any finer sport for the real sportsman—the man who believes in giving to the game he seeks a fair chance for life and who courts that game the most worth chasing which is the hardest to bag—is there any finer sport for such a sportsman we ask than woodcock shooting? Here the skill of the huntsman is tried to the utmost—it is not a question of endurance as in pursuit of larger game, or of the skill and marksmanship of the guide as is so often the case with city sportsmen (?) who hunt the big woods of Maine No tyro with the gun need search the covers for woodcock, for though he may flush many birds he will bring none to the ground except by accident The woodcock falls to no mean marksman—he is the bird for the true sportsman

Camden Herald A well known business man in Camden bought a very handsome shag cat and took it home It was about 10 o'clock when the cat entered her new dwelling and before 5 she had killed the pet canary, before 6 she had killed five chickens and the next day she got into a neighbor's yard and killed some rabbits besides whipping every cat in the neighborhood Thinking that the animal was too combative for home comfort the gentleman took pussy to his place of business Here she had a combat with every cat in the vicinity and looking for new worlds to conquer she embarked upon the M. & M and paid a visit to historic Castine Just how many battles she fought at Castine we cannot say but she returned on the next trip of the steamer Pussy had formed the habit of gadding however and the next time the Portland steamer Salacia left on her Monday trip she leisurely strolled aboard and when Portland was reached went ashore and remained On the next Monday when the steamer returned to Portland to make her usual return trip to picturesque Camden there on the pier sat Miss Pussy patiently waiting to return to her home where as soon as she landed she expressed her pleasure by pitching into the first cat she saw and she is still fighting No doubt pussy's trips to Castine and Portland were to look over the forts

Kennebec Journal The news of the diphtheria in Fort Kent, taken from a Boston paper, is an exaggeration of the condition of things, nevertheless the situation is serious enough Until a week ago the reports from there indicated that the local board was doing fairly well but a week ago a letter was received from the board asking the State Board of Health to send a man to help them At the request of this board Dr W Johnson of Augusta, was sent with instructions to investigate thoroughly the condition of things and to help the local board all he possibly could As a few cases have been reported in at two other places that Fort Kent he was instructed to visit all neighboring towns or plantations in which cases were heard of, and to see that the local boards of health were properly organized and to instruct and help them A letter from Dr Johnson, written at the end of his first day's work and received Friday, states that he had visited 25 cases that day, of which 14 were new cases, all of which received the antitoxin treatment, that the local board of trade is anxious to do all that can be done to stop the outbreak and that the municipal officers are cordially supporting the local board of health in the work The doctor writes hopefully, saying that with hearty co-operation of officers, of the priest and the people, he hopes to send more favorable reports in a few days The cases of diphtheria have been among the poorer class of French people, and, as the local board has reported, five or six miles from the village

LOCAL MATTERS.

The funeral of Mrs. Lillie K. Sweet will take place today at 2 o'clock at 24 Grove street.

Young men intending to enter any of the evening classes at the Y. M. C. A. night school, should be on hand tonight to get particulars.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bangor Kindergarten Club will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Charles Woodman, 143 Broadway.

The Stearns Circle of King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Condon on Hudson street tomorrow evening. Special subjects for discussion and it is hoped many may be present.

On Thursday afternoon at 2.30 the dwelling house and ell on Thomas hill, near the standpipe, being a two story house and one story ell, will be sold at auction, to be removed at once.

A special meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps will be held today at 2.30 o'clock. A full attendance is requested. The Relief Corps will hold its first dance on Wednesday evening, October 20.

There was a sudden change in the weather yesterday, coming off colder and a high wind setting in which blew all day, making it disagreeable to be out, with dust and leaves striking one in the face.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Indian Association will be held at the residence of Mrs. P. M. Blake, 73 Broadway, this afternoon at three o'clock. A cordial invitation to be present is extended to all interested.

Madame Blauvelt, the beautiful prima donna who sang at the festival, has instituted proceedings for divorce against her husband and will go west in November to secure a decree. Incompatibility of temperament is the cause.

This evening will be one of interest to the Sir Knights of St. John's Commandery, when a surprise is in store for them. A banquet will be served at six o'clock and the Red Cross degree will be conferred at 7.30 with full ceremonies.

Mrs. Ellen Stewart, mother of Mrs. Fred Doble, of Date street, was much injured Saturday morning by falling down stairs. She received a very bad scalp wound, which required the attention of physicians. Mrs. Stewart is 76 years of age.

Early Sunday morning during the high wind a rubbish fire in the rear of the State street block occupied by J. D. Glynn and others was scattered about and much damage was threatened. Officers Sproul and O'Donohue worked like Trojans for some time to extinguish all the fires.

On Saturday Mrs. J. W. Chamberlain of the entertainment committee for the festival, was given three cheers by the guests at the festival dinner in the Y. M. C. A. building. In the association gymnasium Gardner Danforth had tables spread for 200 persons, with handsome decorations and efficient waiters who served the chorus members from Maine towns with meals.

The A. O. H. concert and ball to be given in City Hall on Thursday, October 28, will be a very attractive event. Pullen's orchestra will furnish music for the dancing and for the concert preceding it. The management also announces for talent Mme. Daix Despret, Miss Bradford, Miss Nora Kelley, Mr. C. I. Haynes, Miss McDonough, Mr. Charles Chaplain and Master Murray, well known singers, and Miss Josie Welch, the reader.

To accommodate those who wish to attend the Penobscot County Conference this week at East Bangor barges will leave Mr. Hight's book store at 11 a. m. and 1 30 p. m. Tuesday, returning after the evening service, and at 8 30 a. m. and 1 p. m. Wednesday, returning after the afternoon service. All those intending to go are requested to leave their names at Mr. Hight's book store at some time today or Tuesday forenoon.

President A. W. Robinson of the Megantic Fish and Game Association, and Directors D. Pierce, Albert Bernard and Dr. W. J. Kendall, all of whom were accompanied by their wives, returned Saturday to Boston from a tour of inspection of the numerous camps on the association's preserve. Three weeks were spent in the woods and a large number of deer was seen, as well as several bears. Each lady in the party shot one or more deer.

A man named McDonald, residing in Church lane, was painfully injured at the wharf of the Ashland Manufacturing Co., on Saturday. The yard shifter was placing some cars for unloading and McDonald was caught under one of them and dragged some distance. The car left the track and it is said that if it hadn't McDonald would have been killed. He was badly bruised and cut and was taken home where he was attended by a physician.

We have received from Blake, Barrows & Brown the North German Lloyd Bulletin, which gives an interesting account of the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which made the fastest maiden ocean trip from Southampton on record, it being 5 days, 22 hours and 35 minutes. The previous best record of 6 days and 31 minutes was held by the St. Paul, of the American line. Blake, Barrows & Brown are agents for the North German Lloyd line.

Gwilym Miles, the baritone, who sang at the festival, was induced by Mr. W. E. Brown to remain here Sunday and sing at St. John's Episcopal church in the forenoon. He rendered "Lead, Kindly Light" and "It is Enough," from "Elijah," with grand effect. As he said, it was his only opportunity to sing in church here so he thought he would "let himself out." He did, and his audience was deeply affected by the touching passages and struck with the richness of voice and masterly expression.

... FESTIVAL.

Festival Ends in a Regular Burst of Glory.

A Great Day for Maine Composers, Singers and Musicians.

Remarkable Enthusiasm Shown by Fortunate Listeners.

Madame Blauvelt Given a Grand Ovation by Audience.

The festival came to an end in a glorious manner on Saturday. It was in keeping with the eminent success of the previous days.

The morning rehearsal was largely attended.

The Matinee.

"Maine Day" was a memorable one in many ways, especially in regard to the merit of the compositions of Maine people and the rendition of them by Maine artists, and again for the enthusiasm which greeted Maine efforts. It was a great day for composers as well as singers. There was a large matinee audience, a well pleased and grandly enthusiastic one. The first number was the "Pride of the Army" march written by our own eminent musician, Mr. M. H. Andrews, who was called upon unexpectedly by Mr. Chapman to conduct the orchestra. It was ably and gracefully done and there was great applause.

The programme was as follows:

MAINE DAY.

Andrews.........March, "Pride of The Army"
McLellan..........."Dost Thou Remember"
H. B. Drake.
Chapman.........a. "All of a Summer Day," b. "Singing of You"
Mrs. L. D. Barney.
Hamlin.........a. "Riding to Thee" b. "Wouldst Woo Cupid" c. "Sailing to Dreamland"
Mrs. Mary Allen Nelson.
Hyde.........a. "Spring Song" b. "Reviens"
Miss Ethel Hyde.
Vannah.........."When Love is Told"
Miss Carllsmith.
Bartlett.........."Grass and Roses"
[Violin obligato by Dr. O. E. Wasgatt.]
Mrs. Annie Wasgatt Whittredge.
Chapman.........Battle Hymn
Incidental solo, H. B. Drake.
INTERMISSION.
Kotzschmar.........Allegretto-Scherzo
Conducted by the Composer.
Marston.........a. "Springtime"
Chapman.........b. "Thine Eyes"
Mrs. Grace H. Barnum.
Murray..."When Richelieu the Red Robe Wore"
Harry Merrill.
Silsby........."Spring Dreams"
Miss Edith M. Bradford.
Chapman.........Sanctus
Incidental solo by Miss Hyde.

Mr. Drake, of Lewiston, has an unusually good baritone voice and was heard with much pleasure. Mrs. Barney, of Rockland, made an excellent impression, displaying a flexible voice of most pleasing quality. Mr. Chapman played the accompaniment for the first song. Mrs. Nelson, of this city, sang three new songs by Mr. Charles E. Hamlin, who accompanied her on the piano. Her magnificent voice was heard to good advantage in the charming compositions.

Miss Hyde was heard with great pleasure, her cultivated voice, true and clear, creating a deep impression. Miss Carllsmith rendered one of Miss Vannah's musical works with charming expression. Miss Vannah played the accompaniment.

The song by Mrs. Whittredge, with her brother's obligato, was one of the gems of the afternoon. It was delightfully sung. Chapman's "Battle Hymn" is a grand work. Mr. Kotzschmar's composition showed characteristic genius on the part of the Portland organist and conductor. Mrs. Barnum's songs were rendered in her customary artistic manner. Mr. Harry Merrill, of Portland, surprised everybody with his rich, powerful basso. Mrs. Sawyer, of Waterville, was unfortunately unable to sing owing to a cold. Miss Bradford, of this city, who was accompanied by Miss Silsby, sang with fine expression, volume and harmony. Mr. Chapman's "Sanctus" was another powerful work. All the ladies received bouquets and baskets of flowers and there were enthusiastic ovations for them.

Closing Concert. Popular Programme.

POPULAR PROGRAMME.

Raff....March from Symphony No. 5, "Lenore"
Mozart.............Gloria from 12th Mass
Lassen.............."Evening"
Massenet............."Le Cid"
Miss Hyde.
Ambroise Thomas.........Gavotte, "Mignon"
Miss Carllsmith.
.................Mad Scene, "Hamlet"
Mme. Blauvelt.
Chapman.............Battle Hymn
Incidental Solo, H. B. Drake.
INTERMISSION.
Moszkowski..........."Serenata"
Gounod............"Praise Ye the Father"
Schumann............"The Two Grenadiers"
Gwilym Miles.
Lassen..............."Only Thou"
Gounod...Grand Waltz, "Romeo and Juliette"
Mme. Blauvelt.
Key..........."The Star Spangled Banner"

On Saturday evening the festival came to a close, with another splendid programme of grandly rendered music. It was called a popular programme, it being of a somewhat miscellaneous character, but it was none the less pleasing for that, as variety is proverbially the spice of life.

The audience was of good size, the big Auditorium being about two-thirds filled and the great enthusiasm which has been characteristic of the entire festival was also very much in evidence. In fact the greatest ovation of the week was extended to Mme. Blauvelt, who was four times compelled to appear upon the stage and bow her acknowledgments to the mighty manifestations of approval and delight.

The Baton Raised.

It was soon after 8 when Director Chapman started the music with a wave of his magnetic baton which caused the orchestra to commence the beautiful march from Symphony No. 5, "Lenore." The selection was rendered with excellent harmony and many instrumental effects and the swinging measure had an inspiring imprint. It was heartily enjoyed by the audience.

Mozart's "Gloria from 12th Mass" was then sung by the chorus in a manner which was highly enjoyable and the entrancing "Evening" song which followed was rendered with most beautiful effect. The harmony and unity were so splendidly brought out by the chorus that the audience applauded again and again and the only response to an encore of the evening concerts was allowed in this instance.

Miss Ethel Hyde sang Massenet's "Le Cid" selection in a charming way. She possesses a highly cultivated soprano voice of most pleasing timbre and her artistic interpretation was a source of great pleasure. Miss Hyde was very warmly applauded.

Miss Carllsmith's rendition of the "Mignon" gavotte showed skillful execution and pleasing expression and she received very appreciative applause.

Mme. Blauvelt.

Mme. Blauvelt created a genuine furore. Such magnificent vocalism as she displayed was the cause of unbounded enthusiasm. Her voice is one of great beauty, its tones being particularly well rounded, clear and penetrating and the truly remarkable effects which she produced in the mad scene from "Hamlet" won her the greatest possible admiration. A storm of enthusiasm followed her singing and she was four times re-called as previously stated. Her rendition of the "Romeo and Juliette" waltz was also grand.

The "Battle Hymn" by the chorus was another very fine feature of the evening and the incidental solo by Mr. H. B. Drake, of Lewiston, was sung in a most praiseworthy and pleasing manner.

During the intermission Director Chapman was presented with a superb basket of flowers by the chorus.

The "Serenata" number by the orchestra and "Praise Ye the Father" by the chorus were finely rendered and then Mr. Miles added to the great laurels he has already won by a delightful rendition of "The Two Grenadiers." After the excellent singing of "Only Thou" by the chorus it came to a close with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the chorus and audience, with orchestral accompaniment. It was a most patriotic and stirring event.

Festival Notes.

Madame Nordica and her sisters left here for Portland on the 1.40 p. m. train Saturday. Prior to their departure quite a number of ladies and gentlemen who had enjoyed her beautiful singing at the festival called at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Arad Thompson, where she had been entertained during her stay, to pay their parting respects and express the hope that she may soon come to us again. She greeted all with a charming cordiality and spoke with pleasing enthusiasm of her enjoyment of her visit in the Queen City.

Mme. Nordica was very kind and generous in her relations with the festival. When the matter of the festival was broached to her by Prof. Chapman, she said she would be pleased to give free half of her time owing to her love for her native State of Maine. She gave her services at one concert here and will do the same in Portland. Her kindness was greatly appreciated. Mme. Nordica sang here for the first time since her illness and the people were very glad to find that her voice was not in the least impaired, for she sang charmingly.

The ushers did excellent work. Mr. F. B. Cummings was head usher. Each was given a souvenir programme.

The artists who sang here left for Portland yesterday. A large party will go over this morning.

NOT IN IT.

But Mr. Toole Will Have a Polo Team Just the Same.

Mr. Chris. Toole went to Brunswick yesterday to attend a meeting of the Maine polo league in which he desired a franchise for Bangor and which there were expectations that he would secure, but it was not to be. Portland, Lewiston, Augusta and Gardiner voted in favor of Bangor and Bath and Rockland against. The schedule having been arranged it required a unanimous vote to admit another city. Mr. Toole will, however, have a polo team and it is probable an independent league will be organized.

THE TEMPERATURE.

AMUSEMENTS.

Waite's Comic Opera Company.

The Waite Opera Co. closed a very successful engagement at the Opera House on Saturday with fine performances.

Benefit to Maine.

Mr. R. Z. Kerrick, of Chicago, who owns a fine farm at Orono, has arrived for a short visit.

On his way he bought 60 Shropshire sheep and a ram, a choice registered sheep "Golden Rod," from Ohio. He has about 150 hogs and pigs and four more broods to come, on his farm in Orono. They are the improved Chester Whites so famous for bacon.

He says we can raise these light hogs in Maine from light grains and vegetables, barley, peas, potatoes and milk, and the waste of our farms, so-called, and by raising these young hogs it brings back the cows to our farms again.

He said:—"I believe Aroostook county can raise 50,000 to 100,000 light bacon hogs and as many sheep and lambs just as well as not and stop buying so much fertilizer. The prices will be higher and it is a good time to start."

He believed the Farmers' Product Co. is a move in the right direction and that Maine should begin stock raising at once.

The funeral of Mrs. Maria Norwood will be held at 10.30 a. m. today.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary for perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one true blood purifier, and great health giver.

MUNICIPAL MORALS.

The Subject of a Forceful Address by Rev. J. S. Penman.

On Sunday evening Rev. J. S. Penman, pastor of the Central church, delivered an address upon the subject of municipal morals and he was heard by a large audience. The address was a forceful and feeling one and the audience gave it the most close and interested attention throughout.

Rev. Mr. Penman took his text from Lamentations 2:9—"The Law is no More. The prophets have no vision from the Lord."

He said that these words were uttered by Jeremiah in a time of social and moral disintegration when the law had lost its supremacy and the people had lost their vision of divine things. Mr. Penman made an application of these conditions to the present state of affairs, and said that the moral law would ever remain the same, for it is founded on the eternal rock of God's nature and character and the Ten Commandments could never be outgrown.

It was not, however, his purpose to speak upon the supremacy of the moral law, but to bring to the attention of the people certain phases of lawlessness, which are sapping our life and teaching a spirit of anarchy. He said he would not at that time deal to any extent with the prohibitory law, although it was fundamental, but would speak especially of three phases of lawlessness: First, the fact of lawlessness; second, the effect and third, the responsibility.

In regard to the first point he said that it was a fact that the saloons were being run wide open in unconcealed violation of the law. It is not merely a few saloons which are the transgressors but there is an open and avowed law breaking. The number of United States licenses is increasing; it may be that the number of druggists is on the increase but how much he did not know.

Rev. Mr. Penman gave the following statistics concerning the number of Indictments of those holding United States licenses: 1893, 213; 1894, 208; 1895, 206; 1896, 220; 1897, 215. Of these 175 belong to Bangor and 70 to the rest of the county. The figures represent men who have paid a fine and the system is now known as the Penobscot plan. The courts and county attorney recognize the law and under the law the fine is imposed. Under these circumstances the law is not a dead law, although it is enforced only once a year.

The liquor places are tolerated by the authorities and there is a tacit understanding with the officers that so long as the fine is paid, the saloons are closed at 10 p.m. every night and on Sundays they will not be interfered with. I believe the chief of police does all that is in his power under the conditions in which he works. This cannot be said of some other cities.

It is evident that this tacit understanding did not originate with the present administration, but came about ten or twelve years ago.

If there is a compromise with this law, may there not also be a compromise with the houses of ill fame? There are such which have not been raided for many years. The astonishing thing is this tacit understanding in place of the law of the State.

It is trying to regulate the law when the authorities have no right to say about the enforcement. It is plain that it is a practical measure, but what right has an officer to make any practical arrangement? I do not believe the people will tolerate these things when they think of them.

In 1880 there were 242 cases of drunkenness before the court; in 1885, 732; in 1892, 1033; in 1894, 1103; in 1896, 1258; and in 1897, 1382. Thus it seems that the number of cases has almost doubled since 1885. Mr. Penman said that he did not say that individually Bangor had grown worse during the time in which he had a chance to observe, in his three years' experience here, but that socially it was rather worse than better.

Mr. Penman made some quotations from a book on "The Liquor Problem" to substantiate some of the statements he had made and some of the statistics which he had given.

The effect of this lawlessness is not alone on ourselves but it is the contamination of other communities, our plan having been followed by other places. It was only last Wednesday that he read that Bar Harbor had taken it upon herself to adopt this system of evading the law.

The effect is also political demoralization. It means that the liquor element shall dictate in elections. Mr. Penman said that he was not trying to show that Bangor was the wickedest place in the country, as an investigation will show that such conditions exist in other places, but was merely calling attention to the state of affairs.

The speaker said that he noticed plenty of moral sentiment in Bangor, but did it not lack expression? Only this month he took up a copy of the Defender and read the statement that liquor saloons abounded in Bangor. Should we not deny it? Alas! it was too true.

The responsibility is first upon our public officials, but he was not there to denounce them as he knew that their position is a hard one under the circumstances. He was simply calling attention to facts as they existed and they were best told in the letter of the county attorney to a Dexter lady, telling why he could not better carry out the intent of the law, the reason being that the people are afraid to make complaint.

Mr. Penman said that if you asked the sheriff why the law was not carried out, he said that it would be interfering with the police. If you asked the chief of police he would refer you to the mayor and the mayor would say that the enforcement was not supported by public opinion. It is the lack of public opinion which is responsible.

I believe, said Mr. Penman, that this community is a moral one and believes in upholding the law, but we have allowed the moral questions to fall out of our civic issues. The conditions will never be any better while good men and women flinch in their duty. We shall be false to every idea of righteousness unless we protest against this lawlessness as it exists today.

It is time to stop talking about the prohibitory law unless we do something to enforce it. If the law is bad let us say so and organize for its repeal and if it is right and for our good let us demand its enforcement. Whoever we deal with the liquor question there should always be an aggressive sentiment for the officers will do their duty when the people are behind them.

I do not think we are going to exterminate the drinking habit but we should prevent it from exterminating us. The drinking habit debauches manhood and destroys homes, but all that legislation can do is to minimize the evils of drink. It is a mistake to think that legislation can exterminate it but it can push it to the wall.

An aroused public sentiment would put a stop to the compromise and decent men will not be content with this state of affairs. No community with its conscience on the alert will stand things as they exist today. Let us face the facts as they are at the present time and then see what we can do about it, said Mr. Penman in concluding his address.

Capt. Hunt's Long Runs Win Saturday's Foot Ball Game.

The Coburn Classical Institute eleven of Waterville lined up against Bangor High School Saturday afternoon at Maplewood park and had 12 points scored while C. C. I. could get nothing better than a goose egg. To Capt. Hunt of B. H. S. belongs the credit and praise for a large share in the victory and it was a great day for him.

In the first of the second half he picked up the ball on a fumble by C. C. I. and ran 20 yards right through the C. C. I. line for a touchdown. Later in the same half taking the ball for a play around the C. C. I. right end he ran like a deer, dodged all would-be tacklers and made a run of 75 yards, one of the longest ever made on the grounds, for another touchdown. He kicked both goals and thus made the 12 points himself.

C. C. I. has a strong team and players who play a clean game, their conduct on and off the field being excellent. It was a decided contrast to the exhibition put up by the Waterville high school team, so called, but which we are informed contained only four boys who attend the school. C. C. I. really played a much better game than the score indicates, and twice came very near scoring. Once they had the ball on Bangor's one foot and a half line but couldn't quite get it over.

Smith did most of the work for C. C. I. and did it well. His rushes were nearly always productive of a good gain. Besides the brilliant runs of Capt. Hunt, for B. H. S., Bailey, Conners, Harry Hunt and Fitzgerald were the ground gainers and they put up a praiseworthy game. The Bangor line either through intention or through not being wide awake allowed C. C. I. to push it steadily down the field much of the time in the first half. Bridges ran the team with excellent judgment.

The teams lined up as follows:

B. H. S. — C. C. I.
Howard, r e............l e, Clark
Hunt, r t............l t, Tillson
Sargent, r g............l g, Staples
Stone, c............c, Thomas
Burrill, l g............r g, Goodrich
Smith, l t............r t, Austin
Fitzgerald, l e............r e, Dyer
Bridges, q b............q b, Long
Hunt, h b............h b, Sproul
Bailey, h b............h b, Flood
Conners, f b............f b, Smith

Score, B. H. S., 12; C. C. I., 0. Touchdowns, Hunt, 2. Goals, Hunt, 2. Time, 20 and 15 minute halves. Referee and umpire, Mr. Bannoman, Colby; umpire and referee, W. L. Hubbard, Bangor. Linesmen, Mr. Rice, Colby; John Gilman, Bangor. Timer, Mr. Pock, Bangor.

B. H. S. kicked off and C. C. I. by short rushes carried the ball right down the field to the 10 yard line. Here B. H. S. braced and got the ball on downs. C. C. I. soon got it back in the same manner and rushed it to within a foot and a half from B. H. S.'s line. The B. H. S. showed how it can hold when necessary and took the ball on downs. B. H. S. advanced steadily up the field, two runs of 20 yards each by Capt. Hunt and Bailey being features, and the half ended with the ball on C. C. I.'s 15 yard line.

In the second half C. C. I. kicked off. Smith caught the ball and took 15 yards. C. C. I. took the ball on downs, but B. H. S. got it on a fumble. Smith falling on it. Fitzgerald made 25 yards and soon afterwards C. C. I. took the ball on downs. On a fumble Capt. Hunt picked up the ball and ran over for a touchdown. He kicked the goal. Score, 6-0. On the first line-up after the kick-off Capt. Hunt ran around the right end three-quarters of the length of the field for his second touchdown. He kicked the goal. Score, 12-0. The game ended with the ball in the center of the field.

FINE CONCERT TO-NIGHT.

Initial Opening of Boston Star Course at City Hall by Brooke's Band.

A crowded house will greet Brooke's famous Chicago Marine Band at City Hall tonight at 8 o'clock, it being the occasion of the opening concert of the Boston Star Course, which gives a series of ten entertainments on every other Monday night. This course is undoubtedly one of the best ever offered in Maine and especially when the low prices are taken into consideration. Brooke's Band made a magnificent impression when they were here last spring and it is safe to predict a glorious ovation for them tonight when they will be heard in an entirely new programme. Miss Sibyl Sammis, the charming American soprano, will render the grand aria, "There was a Prince," from the opera "Il Guarany." The seat sale for tonight has been exceedingly large, but notwithstanding this fact good seats can be obtained and those intending to go should secure them at once in order to avoid the rush tonight.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

Elmer Colson, of Bangor, Loses His Life at Kingman—Man Named Hanson Has His Hand Nearly Severed From the Arm.

At the mill of Wilbur Grant at Kingman Friday afternoon Elmer Colson, of Bangor, was instantly killed by getting caught in an endless rope, his neck being broken. He had been working in the mill for some time and on Friday he stood under the rope, which was going rapidly, and lifting his head was caught by the neck and killed instantly. Colson was about 30 years of age. His remains were brought to Bangor on the noon train Saturday and will be interred here.

Earlier in the day a man named Hanson had his hand nearly severed from the arm by a saw which went between the second and third fingers into the wrist. The injured man was taken to his boarding place and a physician in attended him. On Saturday Hanson was as comfortable as could be expected. Dr. Kelley said that he hoped to save the hand, but the chances are that it will have to be amputated.

Lunch for the Ladies.

Wood & Ewer have an announcement in another column to the ladies. In connection with a food exhibit to be held at their store, commencing Tuesday and continuing all the week, dainty lunches will be served free and cooking lectures will be given by an expert every morning at 9.30. The lectures will be a source of much profit and the lunch will be greatly appreciated while shopping.

Dancing Classes.

Mr. Pullen's dancing classes have been formed as follows:

SUPREME COURT.

October Civil Term, 1897.

Justice Foster, presiding.
Charles R. Brown, Esq., Sheriff.
Charles F. Sweet, Esq., Clerk.

In the action of Lewis Cowan vs. the Bangor, Orono and Oldtown Railway company, in which the plaintiff sued to recover for personal injuries alleged to have been received by him by being pushed off a car by an agent and servant of the defendant corporation, the company defended on the ground that the plaintiff at the time he alleges the injuries were received by him was intoxicated, and that the conductor refused to take him as a passenger; and a denial that force was used to prevent his boarding the car. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

Plaintiff's counsel filed a motion for a new trial and the case goes to the law court upon report.

J. F. Robinson for plaintiff.
E. C. Ryder, C. J. Dunn for defendant.

On Trial.

Ada E. Cunningham vs. B. H. Toothaker.

In this cause the plaintiff sues to recover the value of one Prescott organ of the value of one hundred dollars and one chamber set of the value of twenty dollars. And she alleges that on the 3d day of March, 1897, she was possessed of said organ and chamber set and that on that day lost the same, which came into the hands and possession of the defendant and although demanded from him by her, he has refused to deliver, but converted them to his own use.

The defendant pleads the general issue and specially, that the goods and chattels mentioned in the plaintiff's writ, were not, nor were any of them the plaintiff's, as alleged; that if any of said goods and chattels have come into his hands and possession, they were received by him in his representative capacity, as one of the administrators of the estate of one Daniel C. Toothaker, late of Belfast, deceased, and they are now held by him in his capacity as such administrator, and that said goods and chattels were the property of said Daniel C. Toothaker and in his possession at the time of his decease, and were not the property, nor in possession of the plaintiff.

N. Wardwell for plaintiff.
R. F. Dunton for defendant.

Burglary Saturday Night.

The store of P. F. Shine, York and Oak streets, was entered by a burglar or burglars Saturday night or Sunday morning and several bottles of liquor, cigars and tobacco, two shoulders of ham and 75 cents in change were taken. The panel of the back door was cut into and a bar was removed by reaching in a hand. There is no clue.

How Mary took her lamb to school, in opposition to the pedagogue's rules, has been immortalized in rhyme, music and dramatic endeavor, but what say you to a dog in church? There is one which never misses a service on Sunday or prayer meetings on week days. He is an orderly, well behaved animal of the genus skye, and keeps very quiet when in the sanctuary. The fact that he sleeps in his pew is no discredit, for even human beings have been known to do the same occasionally. This little dog is owned by a devout member of one of the Methodist churches in Portland and is always with his mistress. Of course this church going dog should not be taken as a precedent, because there are dogs and dogs.

Wednesday afternoon Master Samuel Morse, aged 13 years, arrived at Bath from San Francisco, Cal., to live with his grandfather, Samuel Morse, of North Bath. The lad was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morse. They both died in California several years ago and the grandfather has been trying to have the boy come East and live with him but the relatives of the boy in California refused to grant his request. Mr. Charles Morse was a member of the Masonic lodge in this Bath and at the time of his death, eight years ago, his father in North Bath endeavored to get the orphan to come to Maine but the grandmother in Frisco would not permit him to do so. After trying for some time the grandfather gave up all hopes of ever seeing the boy. Last winter the postmaster in California sent up to the Bath office, inquiring about one Mr. Samuel Morse, a shipmaster in Bath, father of Chas. Morse, as the grandmother of the boy, whom he had been living with, had died and he was without a home, and through the Masons the boy was finally sent to Maine.

Agostino Gardello, the 15-year-old son of Angelo Gardello, of Biddeford, had a narrow escape from being very seriously injured by a ball from a 22 calibre rifle late Thursday afternoon. As it was, the bullet went into the inner side of the leg some distance above the knee and came out below the knee. The shooting was accidental and the trigger was pulled by Gardello himself. The boy attends the public schools, and Thursday afternoon at the close of the session, Agostino, with some other boys, secured a Winchester 22 calibre rifle, and went out in the Granite street neighborhood to see if they could find some game. CHAS. E. BLISS, P.M.

The Century
IN 1897.
ALL NEW FEATURES.

The Century will continue to be in every respect the leading American magazine. Its table of contents including each month the best in literature and art. The present interest in American history makes especially timely A Great Novel of the American Revolution, the leading serial feature for 1897, and the masterpiece of its author, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell. The story, "Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker," purports to be the autobiography of its hero, an officer on Washington's staff. Social life in Philadelphia at the time of the Revolution is most charmingly depicted, and the characters include Washington, Franklin, Lafayette, and others well known in history. It is safe to say that the readers of this great romance will obtain from it a clearer idea of the people who were foremost in Revolutionary days, and of the social life of the times, than can be had from any other single source. The work is not only historically accurate, but is a most interesting story of love and war. The first chapters are in the November number. Howard Pyle will illustrate it.

Campaigning With Grant, by General Horace Porter, is the title of a series of articles which has been in preparation for many years. General Porter was an aide on General Grant's staff and a close friend of his chief, and the diary which he kept through the war is the basis of the present articles, which are striking pen-pictures of campaign life and scenes. They will be fully illustrated. The first one is in the November Century.

A new novel by Marion Crawford, author of "Mr. Isaacs," "Saracinesca," "Casa Braccio," etc., entitled, "A Rose of Yesterday." A story of modern life in Europe, with American characters, begins in November. The first of a series of engravings, made by the famous wood-engraver, T. Cole, of the old English masters also is in the issue. New features will be announced from time to time.
